Make-a-wish and snap a picture, that's what Spencer Caserio hoped for and now he's a recognized photographer.

Caserio was diagnosed with childhood leukemia in 2003. Now he's 11-years-old and a cancer survivor.

Part of his make-a-wish was photography equipment and he has found a love for the art.

An artist reception was held Sunday afternoon for his photos at the Talley Vineyards in San Luis Obispo.

Caserio has been recognized nationally with various awards and his photography has been included in National Geographic.

His work will be at Talley Vineyard till the end of June and they are available to purchase.
